Introduction:

Welcome to my classroom!

English has become the common language of medicine in the interdependent global economy. As an example, medical tourism is a growing trend and many of those patients want to communicate in English. In addition, major medical research in laboratories on future cures for diseases is conducted in English.

Medical professionals working around the world need a basic ability to communicate with international patients and colleagues in English in order to diagnose and treat illness.

Some medical professionals want to advance in their career and already know a bilingual medical practitioner is highly-valued and well-compensated.

Thus, Medical English 101 with Professor Winn is an indispensable course for medical professionals who want to expand their career options. Power up your Medical English skills in the shortest time possible.

Description:

Medical English 101 will help participants improve all language skills simultaneously. This course focuses improving language-related aspects like fluency, understanding, accuracy, and structure. Participants will be able to communicate more effectively in English with patients, their relatives, paramedical staff and colleagues in different medical situations.

They will be given proper practice in reading, writing, speaking, and listening skills as well as grammar and specific medical vocabulary so that they may be able to handle medical texts effectively. This course will also acquaint the participants with basic medical terms, their meaning as well as pronunciation. Teaching medical terms will also include important Latin and Greek roots, prefixes and suffixes.

Course Objectives:

After taking Medical English 101, students should be able to:

- use Medical English vocabulary with facility
- speak English in health care situations with more confidence
- write better English at the hospital, health clinic, or in the field
- read English faster with greater understanding
- listen and comprehend more English in medical situations
- feel confident working with native and non-native English speaking patients and colleagues.
